This short circuit combines simplicity and change of scenery. You may know the Lac Blanc from the ridge, but let yourself be surprised by this new view! From this idyllic and almost confidential place, the lake offers a surprising turquoise hue which projects you directly onto an island at the other end of the world. It is certain that this view will not leave you indifferent!

DEPARTURE: Auberge le Blancrupt or col du Calvaire (+600m)

MARKINGS:

DESCRIPTION

- 1 From the Auberge le Blancrupt car park, return to the main road and take the wide path into the forest on your left. Go straight ahead on this until you reach the lake balcony. Continue downhill along the winding path. Ignore the paths on your left.
- 2 At the next crossroads, continue on the main path which goes off to the right. After a few meters, it leads to the road. Cross carefully to look at the lake and then return to this side.
- 3 Walk along the chalet, descending slightly to find the marked path a few metres further down. Go straight on following the blue ring until you reach the antennas.
- 4 Go up the hill following the tarmac road on the left. At the top, at the next junction, stay on the main path which takes you to the Auberge le Blancrupt, your starting point.

Lake Blanc is located at an altitude of 1055 metres. It takes its name from the colour of the crystalline sand that lines its bottom.
