THE LAC BLANC RIDGE

This short hike is enough to discover the essential diversity of the landscape at altitude. On one side, the ridge which offers one of the most beautiful views of the Alsace plain, the Orbey valley and the Lac Blanc. On the other, the Tanet-Gazon du Faing nature reserve, raw and preserved, with its natural moor as far as the eye can see.

DEPARTURE: col du Calvaire parking

MARKINGS:

DESCRIPTION

1 From the Calvaire pass car park, cross the road carefully to join the small path that enters the forest 50m below. Follow the red rect. / red ring to go up towards the ridge. Higher up, at the level of the crow's feet, take the left path (red ring).

2 At the top, walk along the entire crest of the lake until you reach its source at the other end.

3 Take the path on the right marked red/white/red towards the hautes-chaumes. It allows you to join the GR5, a path parallel to the one you have just taken on the ridge.

4 At the intersection, turn right to return through the Tanet-Gazon du Faing nature reserve. Follow the path until you reach the sign indicating the end of the reserve.

5 Return to your starting point by descending the same path.
